Comparing the vocational education system of different countries and that of Taiwan

Shwuhuey Wang
Lecturer, Department of Business Administration, Far East University
Ph.D Student, Department of Business Education, National Changhua University of Education

Lan-Yun Chang
Lecturer, Department of Business Administration, Far East University

ABSTRACT

Vocational educational education and ordinary education are two parallel lines that lead the country to be progressive. Many achievements of the developed countries mainly come from the successful implementation of vocational education. The study compares the vocational education system of different countries and that of Taiwan, and analyzes the current problems of vocational educational education in Taiwan. Finally, suggestions are provided with the attempt to be helpful on improving future environment of vocational educational education in Taiwan.

Keywords: vocational education